
← Back to the home page

Page not found

Nothing is published at this address. If you typed or guessed the URL, these are the most likely reasons.

If you were after a station

Only the Wenzhou Line has a page per station — 210 of them, at `/rail/metro/stations/br01/` through `/rail/metro/stations/br24/`. Every other station on the network is in the data but has no page written about it yet, because linking to a page that does not exist would be worse than not linking at all.

All 210 stations across the 10 lines the data covers are listed on the station records page `/data/stations/`, with codes, names, coordinates and interchanges.

If you were after a line

The Wenzhou Line `/rail/metro/lines/wenzhou-line/` is the only line written up so far. The network page `/rail/network/` covers all 11 with official colours, termini, lengths and interchanges.

If you were after buses

The joint-operation network `/bus/network/joint-operation/` is written up — how Taipei's bus routes are numbered, coloured and paid for. The rest of the bus section `/bus/` is still being written.

Everything else

- Home `/`
- Rail `/rail/` — lines, rolling stock, depots and operators
- Data `/data/` — official line colours, station records, provenance
- About `/about/` — what this site is and how it sources material

An independent, non-commercial reference site. Not affiliated with any transit operator or government body in Taiwan. Line colours are the official values published by each operator through Taiwan MOTC's open data platform. About this site.

Station names, codes and sequence from TDX Transport Data eXchange, Ministry of Transportation and Communications, operators TRTC, NTMC, TYMC, and TMRT. Government open data. Retrieved 2026-08-24; source last updated 2016-11-23. The 12 Sanying station records absent from TDX are sourced directly to New Taipei Metro and government publications on their pages. Provenance.