

Public art in the Taipei-region rail network

A primary-source catalogue of commissioned works named by DORTS, NTMC and TYMC, with missing fields and conflicting costs left visible.

This catalogue records works named by the full public-art inventories and station records fetched from DORTS, NTMC `[/rail/operators/ntmc/]` and TYMC `[/rail/operators/tymc/]`. The station code is included where the checked source supports it; a line-wide range is used when the work is explicitly spread across stations. `TBC` means the fetched primary page did not publish that field, not that the work is absent.^[1]

The two DORTS tables are not interchangeable. The general table records the early central and Xindian works, while the Wenhui table records the later Wenhui commissions.^{[1] [2]}

Conflicts and gaps

Xiaobitan's work has three different primary-source figures. The general DORTS table gives NT$1,000,000; the dedicated DORTS work record gives approximately NT$35,900,000 plus a NT$1,000,000 first prize; and the DORTS technical book says the project was constrained by a NT$15,000,000 budget limit before the interior works were substantially reduced.^{[1] [3] [4]} The sources describe different scopes or stages, but do not reconcile them, so all three values remain published.

The Sanying sources also disagree. The 2025 announcement assigns 蘆花街燈 to LB08 and 時光行旅 to LB10.^[33] The 2026 announcement omits the LB08 label, assigns 時光行旅 and 陶鄉 to LB10, and calls the programme 12 works.^[34] The full LB08 art record instead names 陶鄉 at LB08. The table preserves each value rather than choosing a station allocation.^{[33] [34] [35]}

The Daqiaotou page establishes eight platform-wall paintings but not the individual catalogue fields. The Airport MRT and Danhai operator pages likewise name works while leaving most catalogue fields unpublished. Those fields stay TBC; an unlisted station is not treated as proof that no work exists.^{[15] [39] [40]}
